

Brazil is a huge country. It covers almost half of South America. All but two countries in South America touch it.

This big land is rich in many ways. It has great forests. Rubber and wood come from them. The farms grow corn, beans, rice, sugarcane, and grapes. Half of the world's coffee is grown in Brazil. The beans that chocolate comes from grow there too.

Huge herds of cattle are raised on the grazing lands. They are used for meat and leather. Prize-winning horses are raised there also.

Gold, silver, diamonds, and iron come from the mines throughout this country.

- 1 Brazil touches all the South American countries but
  - a one.
  - b two.
  - c three.
  - d four.
- 2 One of the things taken from the forests of Brazil is
  - a leather.
  - b rubber.
  - c corn.
  - d None of the above
- 3 The article says that Brazil grows half of the world's
  - a sugar.
  - b cattle.
  - c coffee.
  - d rubber.
- 4 Farmers in Brazil grow
  - a rice.
  - b sugarcane.
  - c corn.
  - d All of the above
- 5 People in Brazil raise prize-winning
  - a horses.
  - b cattle.
  - c beans for chocolate.
  - d grapes.
- 6 Brazil's mines have
  - a gold.
  - b silver.
  - c iron.
  - d All of the above

1 b

2 b

3 c

4 d

5 a

6 d