

A starfish is a sea animal. But it is not a fish. There are different kinds of starfish. Most have five arms. They look like a five-pointed star. Others have many arms. These are called sun stars.

The starfish crawls along the bottom of the sea. It sees with a spot on the tip of each arm. If one of its arms breaks off, it grows a new one. If the starfish is cut in two, each piece grows into a new starfish.
